

Concordia - SAWS agent fees 2009

The agencies used by Concordia for supplying students charge an optional fee to students for the additional services they provide. The fees for Concordia's agents for the SAWS scheme are listed below and may include a wide range of services such as: the translation of medical certificates, courier fees, submission of documents to Concordia on the students' behalf, necessary documentation and transport costs.

The services included vary from agent to agent and applicants should check what is included in the fee with the appropriate agency. Whilst it is possible to make many of the arrangements independently, students often prefer to use the expertise of agents for these additional services such as travel arrangements.
